

Maka Gogaladze

With a degree in medicine, Maka Gogaladze ventured into photography in 2008. Since 2010, she has been working as a photographer for various media outlets and organizations in Georgia. In 2016, Gogaladze earned a master's degree in Multimedia Journalism and Media Management from the Caucasus School of Journalism and Media Management at the Georgian Institute of Public Affairs (GIPA), where she got deeply interested in documentaries. Presently, she serves as an photography tutor at GIPA.

From 2016 onward, Gogaladze has also been involved in producing short documentaries for the South Caucasian media platform Chai Khana. In 2016, she co-founded the FORMO Production Company. She participated in various programs including Berlinale Talents, CIRCLE - Women Doc Accelerator, ESoDoc, EAVE Change, IDFA Academy, CineDoc Film Mentoring Program, Cannes Docs, and Close Up.